E-Newsletter

January 2009

Dear Sam,

ACC offers this newsletter as a means of sharing thought provoking and stimulating articles to our clients and associates. We hope you find them of interest and invite your submission of articles for future newsletters that you feel would be of interest to our readers. We also invite your input with regards to this change of format from a newsletter mailing to an e-newsletter.

Message for the New Year

Whatever personal plans we may conceive, each of us knows that they are directly connected with the welfare and successes of our entire world.

We all have much to contribute to each other. Let us continue to explore the heavens and the earth around us, for knowledge is indeed power. As always, let us continue to strive, to grow, to explore, to live and to learn.

This past year has been one of challenges and this coming year holds great promise. As a nation, we have always met challenges together, and as a nation we will face the future together.

Our country is not flourishing. The enormous creative and spiritual potential of our nations is not being used sensibly. Entire branches of industry are producing goods that are of no interest to anyone, while we are lacking the things we need. Our obsolete economy is wasting the little energy we have available.

A country that once could be proud of the educational level of its citizens spends so much on education yet in the most complete international study of schooling ever conducted, U.S. high school seniors ranked near the bottom in math and science, reflecting what educators call a crisis in American education.

One of the more ominous findings in the latest study is that even the American students taking advanced courses could not measure up to students from other nations. In math, they ranked 15th out of 16 nations. In physics, U.S. seniors ranked dead last.

How are our children going to be able to compete with the children of the world? The answer I believe is not well.

We have polluted the soil, rivers and forests bequeathed to us by our ancestors. But all this is still not the main problem. The worst thing is that we live in a contaminated moral environment. We fell morally ill because we became used to saying something different from what we thought. We learned not to believe in anything, to ignore one another, to care only about ourselves. Concepts such as love, friendship, compassion, humility or forgiveness lost their depth and dimension.

None of us is just its victim. We are all also its co-creators

Self-confidence is not pride. Quite the contrary: only a person or a nation that is self-confident, in the best sense of the word, is capable of listening to others, accepting them as equals, forgiving its enemies and regretting its own guilt. Let us try to introduce this kind of self-confidence into the life of our community and, as nations, into our behavior on the international stage. I believe that this is the way we restore our self-respect and our respect for one another as well as the respect of other nations

This coming year let us look forward to a brighter world. Let us work for peace, prosperity and security to return to the entire world.

I say here today and say without reservation that we have every reason to be proud of this great country we call America for we still have more entrepreneurs than any other country developing products that change the world. The opportunity to be successful and help change the world is there for those people who are risk takers. For those visionary people the world is waiting for your leadership to change for the better our children's future.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, Sr., once said, "I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving; we must sometimes sail with the wind and sometimes against it. But we must sail and not drift or lie at anchor."

In today's world, learning to cooperate is the most important thing of all

I wish you happiness, peace, kindness and love as we enter 2009

Introduction of New Programs

ACC announces its new Web Site Development and Implementation Leasing Program

ACC introduces its "Flexible Financing Program": 7 x $100 Program: Lessee pays a $100 security deposit with first six months at $100 followed by remaining term at regular payments

• 6 x $99 Program: Lessee pays 2 security deposits @ $198 with first six months at $99 followed by remaining term at regular payments

• 60 -90 Day Deferral for cases where Lessee can't afford to buy now or when the equipment does not generate income at the outset: Lessee will only pay a contact payment of $25 during the deferral period and not invoiced the regular payments until 60 or 90 days after funding which is in essence a 90-120 day deferral.

• Interval and Seasonal Programs for lessees that need structured payments due to seasonal fluctuations.

-Working capital can now be integrated into a lease up to a maximum of 25% of the total cost of new equipment purchases

-We can now offer working capital loans to credit challenged companies by creating a sale/leaseback equal to 50% of the liquidated appraised value of hard assets regardless of financial statements or credit profiles.
